

Dr Andreas Christou was born in 1978, Nicosia, Cyprus. He graduated from Pancyprian Gymnasium, Nicosia. He studied medicine in Aristotle University of Thessaloniki and in Military School of Corps Officers, where he graduated from in 2002. He has served as a military doctor for 8 years, in various positions.

He acquired his medical specialty in Orthopaedic and Trauma surgery in 2012. He has worked in UK hospitals as part of his post CCT training.

He has attended local and international orthopaedic conferences and training seminars.

He is a member on scientific societies and an active member of CAOST (Cyprus Association of Orthopaedic Surgery and Trauma).

Dr Christou is currently working in Apollonion Private Hospital, Nicosia since September 2014, offering Orthopaedic and Trauma services, which include:

- ☐ Knee arthroscopic procedures (meniscal tears, osteochondral lesions, cruciate ligament repair)
- ☐ Shoulder arthroscopic procedures (Impingement syndrome, tendon tear repair, instability/dislocation)
- ☐ Ankle arthroscopic procedures
- ☐ Total knee replacement/arthroplasty (standard procedure and Patient specific instrumentation/Visionaire)
- ☐ Total hip replacement
- ☐ Total shoulder replacement
- ☐ Sport injuries
- ☐ Foot and Ankle pathology